FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1858. MILES-ALGER FIGHT.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald says that army officials would not be surprised if the Miles-Alger controversy results in the retirement of either the commanding general or the Secretary of War While it is quite probable that Miles in the better man of the two, there are number of persons who are inclined to selleve that the service would not re-seive its death blow by the retirement of both of these gentlemen. Perhap the Secretary of War did (reat the ranking officer with discourtesy, but i this were the most serious charge igainst him the American people would have reason to congratulate themselves upon the administration of the War Department. The questions of official specedence are scarcely worthy of con-ideration until the more serious criti-isms regarding Mr. Alger have been aswered. There will be sufficient rin o take up the question of military equette after we have an explanation he red tape which kept thousands ons of supplies on the transports white inited States soldiers were suffering rom the pangs of hunger.

Etiquette is a great and noble seion out the question of supplies, especially nother handling of large bodies of mon s much more important. Let us get he commissary tangle straightened on efore essaying the task of settling the mail differences that have arisen beween the Secretary of War and one o as sensitive generals.

Charitable and other organizations of hey seem to think they have a griev ance against the publisher who re-uses to heed their "stand-and-deliver emands. The aggrieved ones ofter magine that it would be a small mat-ier to run in just "a little item for the sood of the cause," but if they knew that an avalanche of requests of a imilar nature even one labse from hos-ness principles brings they would re-ard the matter in a different light. Thile editors and publishers are usual willing to help all good causes along to a personal way, it is almost an ax in newspaperdom that a caushich is unwilling or unable to pay for thance its interests deserves no aid i people would only stop and consider nat a newspaper is a business enter-rise and not a charitable institution ar the promulgation of individual o ganized hobbles there would be jes couble for the publishers and less un asonble and uncharitable bitternes i the part of those persons who be me offeneded because the manager , se paper refuses to make an advertis-g contribution when called upon by ell meaning persons who allow votion to a cause to blind them but

A number of prominent French offirs pretend to believe in the guilt of e prisoner of Devil's Island. They ake this position on the ground that was sufficient proof to con vict the unfortunate Dreyfus without the forged letter. In this connection the question which naturally arises is this: If the evidence was so strong's igainst the accused why did his procutors deem it necessary to risk the honor to the extent of forging a letter Then, too, why did Lieutenant-Co'on Henry councit suicide, unless, he wa ifraid that an investigation we s multy but all the circumstances

A careful perusal of the list of discases from which the volunteer army has suffered fails, to show dyspensia The army is to be congratulated upor ts freedom from this abmoying and er
